“Women's Words of Wisdom, Power & Passion”

50 influential achievers share their inspiring insights

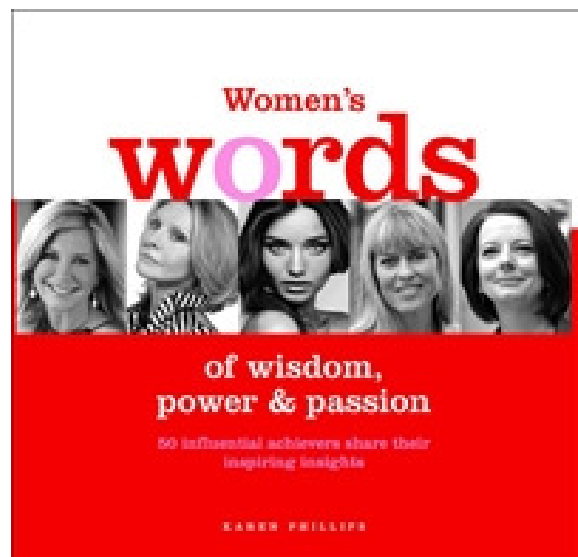

by Karen Phillips

Thursday 26th May 2011 - 12noon

No one understands women better than women. So who better to give advice than 50 of Australia's finest? WOMEN'S WORDS OF WISDOM, POWER AND PASSION presents the ultimate collection of women, coming together to share everything they know about success, love, health and happiness.

During her career, Karen Phillips has spoken to thousands of women from Cairns to Hobart and Perth to Sydney at events and leadership forums. Through this she learned that women of all ages hunger for wisdom, mentors and new opportunities to learn.

The pages within WOMEN'S WORDS OF WISDOM, POWER AND PASSION are filled with interviews, personal anecdotes and stunning photos from Australia's most respected and adored women. This book is a celebration of 50 of Australia's most influential women in fashion, business, sports, politics, media and everyday life. Through their insight, valour and compassion come some of life's most important lessons.

About Karen Phillips

While in Bali in June 2010, Karen fell down a ravine and broke her back, suffered facial and internal injuries, with doctors saying she was lucky to survive. After this life-changing experience Karen, 45, decided it was time to follow her heartfelt dream.

Less than a year later, her dream to connect and inspire women around the country in a way never done before, is now coming to fruition with 'The Women's Words Project' – which includes launching the book Women's Words of Wisdom, Power & Passion and the official Women's Words of Wisdom website www.womenswords.com

Gathering together 50 iconic Australian women for the book was just the beginning, with Karen's passion spurring her on to create 'The Women's Words Project' to provide a multitude of platforms for women to share, learn and embrace what being a woman is all about. Also, 10% of the book's profits will be donated to Olivia Newton-John's Cancer and Wellness Centre. This incredible achievement is indicative of Karen's life-long drive to make a difference for people.

At just 14, Karen was one of the youngest delegates invited by the Federal Government to attend the nation's first National Youth Conference. At 15, Karen was honoured with an Australian Young Citizen of the Year Award for outstanding services to youth at local, state and national level and has since lived by the belief that one idea can change the world through creating heart to heart connections.

Having already built an expansive career in media, Karen launched her communications, branding and events company at just 27 after positions in London and Asia. Karen Phillips Corporate Communications has worked with some of the world's most prestigious brands and identities.

An avid supporter of women's cancer charities and other causes, she has managed and hosted one of Australia's longest running women's business clubs, now called Early Risers in Queensland for over 18 years.
